The Norton Simon Museum Presents its Fall Family Festival on Sunday, Oct. 20

This program for kids and their families offers art-making activities and more throughout the Museum's garden and galleries

Pasadena, CA—The Museum's creativity-fueled Fall Family Festival returns—taking families on a journey around the world and through time with pop-up art-making workshops in the galleries and garden. Join a time-travel workshop with educators from the creative writing organization 826LA, create your own time travel luggage and journal, design your own time machine, write postcards from the 18th century, create 17th-century inspired hats and explore 19th-century Paris. Listen to the sounds of ancient Indian instruments, and enjoy story time in 20th-century Europe—there's so much to explore and experience at the Family Festival. This event is free for all children 18 and younger. Adults pay general admission.

WHEN: Sunday, October 20, 1:00–3:30 p.m.

ADMISSION: This event is included with Museum admission. Admission is $15.00 for adults; $12.00 for seniors; and free for Museum members, students with I.D., and everyone age 18 and under.
